USPA NEWS - "Educate, agitate, organize": This powerful mantra underscores the path to social reform and empowerment. Education enlightens individuals, agitation encourages them to question injustice, and organization unifies their efforts for lasting change.

After attaining enlightenment, Buddha gifted humanity with the pure and perfect Dhamma, consisting of 84,000 teachings for human welfare. He provided mankind with the three jewel-like "Tri" Peethas, earning him the title Vishwakranti Jyoti. Following in these footsteps, Emperor Ashoka made Dhamma universal.

In modern times, Babasaheb Dr. B R Ambedkar has given humanity a comprehensive "Knowledge" package for "Vishwakalyanam" (universal welfare), encapsulated in his extensive literature of "Writings and Speeches," amounting to over one lakh pages. His monumental effort in drafting India's constitution, recognized as one of the best in the world, exemplifies his dedication and hard work in studying the universe and contributing to society.

Dr. Ambedkar bestowed upon humanity three universal principles: "Educate, Agitate, Organize." These principles are vital for societal advancement and have earned him recognition worldwide as a "Symbol of Knowledge." Today, it is imperative that we carry forward the knowledge imparted by Babasaheb for the welfare of mankind.

The founder of Maha Jnana Samajam, Vishwanath Goviamsa, emphasized that their organization is committed to spreading this wisdom globally to the best of its ability. Maha Jnana Samajam strives to honor Dr. Ambedkar's legacy by promoting his teachings and principles, recognizing that knowledge is essential for a better and advanced society.

Dr. B R Ambedkar's quotes on knowledge, truth, and development, highlights his vision for a better society:

"Cultivation of mind should be the ultimate aim of human existence": Dr. Ambedkar believed that intellectual growth and mental development are crucial for personal and societal progress. A well-cultivated mind can lead to a more just and equitable society.

"I measure the progress of a community by the degree of progress which women have achieved": This quote highlights the importance of gender equality in societal development. Dr. Ambedkar advocated for the education and empowerment of women as a critical factor in the advancement of communities.

"We are Indians, firstly and lastly": Emphasizing national unity and integrity, Dr. Ambedkar's words remind us of the importance of collective identity and working together for the nation's progress, transcending individual differences.

"Life should be great rather than long": This statement reflects Dr. Ambedkar's belief in living a life of purpose and impact. The quality of one's contributions to society matters more than the duration of life.

Dr. B R Ambedkar's teachings continue to inspire and guide us towards a more knowledgeable, just, and progressive society. Maha Gnana Samajam remains dedicated to spreading this wisdom, ensuring that Babasaheb's legacy thrives for the betterment of all mankind.
